Hughes in Magnificant Form White Nichols Is Not the Fermer Puzzle-New Yorks Surprise the Baltimores and the Philadelphias Defeat the Washingtons-Notes. The champion Bostons were whitewashed by the Brooklyns yesterday in a game that further convinced the rooters that, barring accidents, the League pennant will fly at Washington Park next year. The Superbas still lead the Philadelphias by 71 points, even though the Quakers handly defeated the Washingtons. The Bostons are now 9 points behind the second team, but the Baltimores lost a fine chance to gain on the champions by dropping an unexpected game to the New Yorks. St. Louis outplayed Cincinnati at all points and Chicago treated Cleveland similarly thereby increasing a hold on seventh place, as the Louisvilles beat the Pittsburgs.

THE RECORD.

BROOKLYN, 5; BOSTON, O. Seven thousand baseball enthusiasts went to Washington Park yesterday afternoon to sethe Brooklyns and Bostons meet again. The exciting incidents at the conclusion of Thursday's game, when Umpires Emalie and Dwyer were assaulted and roughly handled, undoubtedly attracted many, but there was no chance for a repetition of the acts of lawlessness as Chief of Police Devery sent fifty bluecoats over from Manhattan to preserve order. They lined up in front of the stands, and, having little to do, they enjoyed the fine playing of the coming champions. Hughes was at his best, with a puzzling assortment of curves and shoots and the Bostons were completely at his mercy. They were not only shut out, but three of their six hits were made by Hamilton. In addition to this Hughes gave but two bases and fifteen men were retired on fly balls. Behind the Calfornian the Superbas played like real champions: Jennings and Dahlen made a number of magnificent plays for which there were wild cheers. Nichols, once the League's greatest pions: Jennings and Dahlen made a number of magnificent plays for which there were wild cheers. Nichols, once the League's greatest pitcher, was rather easy for the Brooklyns. He was hit hard, but errorless support kept the run-making down. Just to show that there were no hard feelings, the crowd applauded both Emsile and Dwyer when they came upon the field to begin work.

In the first inning the Brooklyns put every hody in good humor by scoring two runs. Jones was out on a fly to Hamilton, and Keeler received four balls, stealing second, too. Jennings cracked a liner over Tenney's head which was good for three bases and Keeler scored. Anderson popped up the first ball pitched to Collins, but Daly rattled a single to centre bringing Jennings in. Daly stole second also, and when declared safe by Dwyer Long made a senseless kick. Nichols put on extra speed and Dahlen struck out.

Casey walked to first on four balls in the second and Farrell ripped out a hot single to centre. Hughes struck out, and a wild pitch ever Bergen's head advanced both runners. Jones hit sharply te Collins who fumbled it long enough to let Casey score, but got the runner at first by a quick throw. Farrell was left on third when Keeler popped to Long. The Brooklyns made another run in the last half of the third after two men had been retired. Daly took his base on balls and Dahlen out him on third with a single to centre. Both runners got under way and Casey shot a safe liner over Lowe's head, Daly scoring and Dahlen landing on third. Casey drew a throw to second and ducken under Long, who tried to run him down. Dahlen started for the plate and Long hustled the ball to Bergen so fast that Dahlen made a break to get back to third where he was caught.

Jennings now came in for a great ovation because he made the finest play of the game. Tenner-caught a slow ball on the end of hie bat and twisted it like a cannon shot toward the right field foul line. Jennings leaped three feel into the air, stuck up his left hand and the ball struck his mit w brilliant fielding. Hamilton beat out a bunt and was forced by Collins, a beautiful stop by Dahlen helping immensely. Then Dahlen distinguished himself further by collaring a liner from Duffy and with a long throw to first he doubled up Collins, thereby earning all the an plause he got. With two cut in Brooklyn's half, Jennings made his third safe hit but was left on Anderson's long boomer to Duffy.

The Bostons were dying hard and in the eighth they made a slight, but ineffective raily. Lowe and Bergen had both filed to Jones, when Nichols made a base hit tocentre and Stahl followed him with another to right. With the great Tenney at the bat the Boston rooters in the grand stand plucked up courage. But a little foul to McGuire was the best he could do, and the eighth zero went down on the score cards. Just to clinen it the Brooklyns made one more run in their turn. Two were cout as Casey lined the hall to the right field fence for a three bagger. The little fellow rushed around the hase paths like a Wefers, the crowd yelling like Indians. Jim McGuire came to the rescue with another tremendous smash beyond Hamilton, which netted three more bags and scored Casey. Hughes flied to Hamilton and Jim was left.

There was another vain rally by the Bostons

There was another vain rally by the Bostons in the ninth; Long got a life on Casey's fumble and Hamilton hit safely. Then Collins flied to Anderson and Duffy put up a foul near the right field seats, which Jennings caught in auperh fashion, also making a great throw over to third, which drove Long buck to second. Lowe also fouled to Casey and the ninth zero was recorded amid intense enthusiasm. The crowd wanted to jump into the field to congratulate the Superbas, but the cordon of police made such demonstration impossible. The score:

After losing nine straight games, the New Yorks carried off the victory at the Pologrounds yeaterday. They played their usual sleepy game and had no license to win. They awoke in the seventh inning and scored four runs on as many hits and Demont's muff of Seymour's fly. Carrick made a great play in the last inning, running over to third base and completing a double play on Doyle's throw. Cleo Outsails Mamie B. On Gravesend Bay. A race that aroused a great deal of interest among the many yachtsmen on Gravesend Bay was decided last evening. Capt. Charles P. It was the third of the series of races between the craft, both of which fly the burgee of the Gravesend Bay Yacht Club. burgee of the Gravesond Bay Yacht Club.
There was considerable money wagered on the result, besides a side bet of $290.
Both got off well, but in the light wind the Mamie B. outforted her rival on the first stretch of the course. After turning, the Cleo began to get into a good windward position, and there was very little to choose when they straightened out for home. It was then a long reach, and this just suited the Cleo, for she outfooted her opponent, and crossed the fluishing line a minute to the good.

GEORGE LONG'S FILLY BEATS SWIFT-MAS AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

Over the futurity Course-Hesper, Rush and Old Abuse Earn Brackets-Three Favorites Land Money-Wind-up To-day. Although no stake features graced the card at Sheepshead Bay yesterday afternoon the sport furnished was much above the average usually looked for on an "off day," and 5,000 followers of the game passed through the turnstiles. The enthusiasm of the majority was clearly due to a desire to get even with the books as the meeting will end this afternoon. The elements frowned on the track ominously while the jockeys were weighing out for the opening race, but the threatened storm spent itself in a drizzle of rain which ceased before bugle call. Then the sun shone out with July fervor, and as old Humidity also loomed up fully charged for mischief, and the three-decker stands completely shut out the light land breeze the enclosure soon became the hottest spot on the Greater New York frontier. These conditions made traffic be-tween the paddock and the ring a martyrdom but the regulars managed to pick three win-pers and went home comparatively happy.

It was principally a gala day for the cheaper class of horses and almost every vacancy created by a scratch on the bulletin board was immediately scrambled for by owners whose entries had been shut out by the track The first race, a dash for maiden twoyear-olds, attracted nineteen runners and led to some rare guessing. Weight of money finally forced Watercure's price from 30 to 1 to 4 to I and the Morris colt went to the post e slight favorite over Gold Lack and Hesper. The latter, in the hands of Maher, won out rather easily by a length and a half from Angle who secured the place by a length. There was a desperate drive for show money in which tiold Lack. Kamara, Watercure and Bombshell finished heads apart in the order named.

The one mile race for three-year olds brought out a light field of four with Rush a prohibitive favorite. She never left the isaue in doubt and won galloping by five lengths from Lotharic who beat Leo Planter three lengths. The Burlington Route looked to have a mortrage on third money but O'Leary caught Richards napping in the last few strides.

Sixteen runners faced the barrier for the third race and old Abuse scored cleverly for the plungers by three lengths, while Kilt took the place by a head from Tabourat. The best class of the day met in the fourth race, a handicap for three-year olds and upward, at one mile and a furlong. Swiftmas caught the popular fancy but could never get on terms with Azucena who led all the way and won by a length. Maid of Hariem ran a determined stern chase and linished at the favorite attroat latch.

Nine two-year olds faced the barrier for the latter, in the hands of Maher, won out rather Nine two-year olds faced the barrier for the fifth race, a dash down the Futurity course. The talent could see nothing worth playing outside Gonfalon, but the favorite finished well outside the money while Kilmarnock and Sadducee ran a dead heat, one length in front of the outsider Mauvilla.

Maximo Gomez made a bold bid to land the closing event of the card for Mike Clancy but The Star of Bethiehem outran him in the stratch and won easily by three lengths.

The meeting winds up this afternoon with a brilliant trogramme which includes the Great Fastern Handicap of $5,000 for two-year olds: the Autumn Cup, with $3,500 added, for three-year olds and upward, at two miles, and a steeple chase over the full course. BURNS BEATEN BY ZEIGLER. Referee Stops a Flerce Glove Fight in the Twelfth Round.

In one of the fleroest glove fights ever seen n this city, Owen Zeigler of Philadelphia defeated Charley Burns of Cincinnati in the twelfth round at the Broadway A. C. last night. When the fight ended, Burns was flat upon the floor, having been knocked down by a right hand punch in the pit of the stomach. Referee John White stopped further hostilities at this stage, although Burns was willing to continue. The men slugged almost incessantly and both were severely punished. Ziegler's generalship, science and gameness won the purse, after he had appeared to be an almost certain loser. The preliminary was provided by Frank Colyer of Brooklyn and Fred Van Neuch of Mount Vernon, twenty rounds at 137 pounds. It was a rough punching match, with little science up to the eighth round. Then Van Neuch scored a couple of clean knock downs. His seconds got into the ring, but jumped out again before Referee John White saw them, after which Colver was sent to the floor six times more in rapid succession. He took a count each time, but was so hopelessly beaten that the referee interfered when 2 minutes and 47 seconds had expired and named Van Neuch the winner.

The betting on Zeigler and Burns was at even money. The latter was handled by Johnny Ritchie, Tommy Hogan, George Stevenson and William McCluskey, Zeigler's econds were Andy Walsh, Jake Stern and John Lawson. They were to go twenty-five rounds at catch weights, both being at or about 140 pounds. Burns looked strong and rugged while Zeigler seemed to be finely trained when they toed the scratch. Burns started a fast pace, driving in quick left-handed jabs to the face and making Zeigler hustle out of the way, Burns followed until Zeigler caught him on the point of the jaw with a well directed swing. Burns staggered for a moment, but quickly rushed his antagonist to a corner, where they were locked at the bell, Burns started the second with a rush throwing in lefts. Zeigler, who was clever and fast, neck, his blows being so clean cut that the crowd applauded. It was give and take in the third, both landing heavily, Burns showing greater strength and aggressiveness. Zeigler's mouth was bleeding when time was up. Burns rushed like a tiger in the fourth, swinging both hands without let up. Zeigler, though backing away put in many stiff smashes on the jaw until Burns wobbled. Both fell in a backing away, partition backing away, partition and the jaw until Burns wobbled. Both fell in a clinch, but were up and at it again with such incessant slugging that the crowd was up in arms. It was anybody's fight when the fifth began. The men were tired but they got at it again without delay. Zeigler scored on the body with several heavy right handers and also jabbed his left into the face. Burns's blows were almost all swings, many of which were wild.

As the sixth began, Burns was sent reeling against the ropes with a left on the chin. He bounded back with a rush and landed hard on Zeigler's nose, which forced the latter to clinch in a corner. Then Burns put in jabs, but his blows were much weaker than in the early rounds. The seventh round was fierce. They got to roughing it and both feil. When up again, Burns held out his hand in a friendly way and Zeigler sneaked a swing over on the jaw. Then Burns went in like a wild man and had the better of a terrific slugging bee. Zeigler fell twice from body blows, but at that he had Burns in trouble from repeated wallons on the jaw. Zeigler was finally knocked through the ropes in his corner just as the beli rang. He was not "out" by any means and came out for the eighth full of fight. Burns quickly drew blood from the mouth with a left-hand smash. Then he cut losse and, though Zeigler fought back gamely, the Clininati man had a pronounced advantage at the gong. As the sixth began, Burns was sent reeling cinnati man had a pronounced advantage at the gong.

Burns rushed again in the ninth, but in spite of the storm of blows that he poured upon his adversary, Zeigler got a terrific right to the nw that almost sent Burns down. The latter's strength, though, made it possible for him to raily and he soon drove Zeigler to the ropes, where both showed signs of weakness. Burns had all the better of the first half of the tenth, but in the last half Zeigler had his man in trouble by landing a flurry of quick smashes on the law. Zeigler hurt his right hand and went to his corner apparently in pain. Burns's nose the jaw. Zeigler hurt his right hand and went to his corner apparently in pain. Burns's nose was bleeding when the eleventh onened, but he rushed and with a belt on the mouth he brought a stream of blood. Zeigler whipped over three swings to the jaw and then put in a hard stomach punch that sent Burns to the floor in a heap. On the ninth count Burns got up and Zeigler rained the blows upon him until he was reeling helplessly. The bell saved Burns.

Zeigler rushed as soon as the twelfth began. Burns was unsteady on his pins and Zeigler landed half a dozen smashes in the stomach until Burns fell flat upon his back. He seemed to be unconscious and the referee, taking it for granted, declared Zeigler the winner. Burns leaped to his feet before six seconds had clapsed and wanted to go on but it was too late. It is doubtful whether Burns could have won anyway. It was a flerce fight and would have delighted a crowd larger than the one that was present.

Jordan Will Fight Santry or Gardner in This Country.

The London Sporting Life confirms the report regarding Ben Jordan's trip to this country. In its issue of Aug. 29 the paper says: "Last evening (Monday) Ben Jordan met J. S. Barnes, the authorized representative of the Coney Island A. C. of New York in Great Britain, for the purpose of appending his signature to the contract respecting his forthcoming trip to the United States. The memorandum of agreement stipulates that the featherweight champion shall journey to America for the purpose of meeting a selected opponent for a purse of £1,000, given by the Coney Island Athletic Club, at a weight suitable to the last mentioned. In addition to this Jordan will receive additional expenses for himself and trainers.

"Although the name of any particular opponent has not been manufound in the contract we

"Although the name of any particular opponent has not been mentioned in the contract, we understand that Jordan will be matched to meet Eddie Santry, who recently fought George Dixon. Santry with Oscar Gardner enjoyed the reputation of being at the top of the feather-weight class in America, and should the first-named avoid a meeting with the Londoner, their overtures will be made to the remaining candidate. If possible, and with a proviso of success, both men mentioned will be met before Jordan returns home. Jordan will sail in company with Jim Jeffries on Sept. 14." CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The rain left the Haw-thorne track soft and deep to-day, though not muddy. The races were all won easily and the sport was tame. Corrigan's Golden Rule was heavily played to beat May Beach, but falled

GREAT ARRAY OF GOLFERS.

SEVENTY-RIGHT ENTRIES FOR THE OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP AT BALTIMORE,

Herd, the Title-Holder, and the Tric of Ex-Champions Head the List-Twelve Amateurs to Start Including Herbert Harriman and Q. A. Shaw-Anderson Out. There will be spirited golfing on next Thursday and Friday, when the professional and mateur golfers tee off at the Baltimore Country Club in the fifth open championship of the United States Golf Association. All told, only forty-nine were entered in the event last year, when Fred Herd won at the Myopia Hunt Club, while this year seventyeight have entered, of whom sixty-four are professionals. Herd is in to defend his title, with Alexander Smith, the runner up to him, and the trio of ex-champions, Horsee Rawlins, James Foulis and Joe Lloyd. Wille Dunn, the '94 title-holder, is also nominated, and during the week he is to meet Herd in a match for $500. The title is now in the West, and that a strong effort will be made to keep It there is shown by the names, besides those of Herd, Smith and J. Foulis, of Will Smith. Lawrence Auchterlonie, Henry Turple and Peter Walker.

Of the golfers attached to links in the Metropolitan district, the three most conspicuous or their past records are George Low, Jack Park and David Hunter, although John Forman has been doing some fine scoring at Ardsley. Harry Gulane and Bernard Nichols seem the strongest of the Philadelphians, while Lloyd and Willie Campbell are the strongest of the Boston group. W. F. Davis is entered from Newport, where he has recently made the new record of 72, and his assistant, Donald Ball, a cousin of John Ball, Jr., has entered from the Washington club. He was with Davis there last winter and cut the record to 75. Willie Tucker is entered. He is now engaged by the Chevy Chase Club and is in quite his old form. Should a team match be arranged between the East versus West, the Atlantic Coast will probably be chosen from the golfers named in this paragraph Fourteen amateurs are on the list, and although this number beats the record, it is the highest class lot that has ever appeared in this division of the competition. Herbert M. Harriman, the amateur champion, has followed the time-honored precedent of the title-holders here and abroad by sending in his name, and he will be accompanied by a Meadowbrook clubmate, James A. Stillman, who plays a very strong score game, T. Poultney Jenkins, who beat Douglas without their ratings in the open handican at Baltimore last apring, is the only home player entered, and, from the nearby Chevy Chase links, the entry has been received of Ormsby McCamnon, who is an utterly unknown quantity hereabouts. W. L. Thompson is entered from the Newport club, a good score player in streaks, who will not be last unless he has one of his unlucky days, and Charles S. Cox, who slways uses a cleek from the tees and is very apt with it, is entered from Fairfield. Quincy A. Shaw, who beat Harriman at Newport, will tee off and afford the New Yorker a chance to regain his lost prestige. The best score player in the M. G. A. Walter J. Travis, is also nominated. Philadelphia is represented by Lineaweaver and McCawley. Last but not least, the entries include A. W. Smith, the Canadian ex-champion amateur. He was fourth in the open of 155 and fifth the following year, leading H. J. Whigham a stroke. In 197 Smith lasted to the third round in the amateur championship at Muirfield, and he did not return from Scotland is time for the open championship has year. It will be interesting to note whether Smith can lead our amateurs in the race as easily as he did in 181, in fact, he will unconsciously serve as a trial horse to an extent to show to what degree our score player in streaks, who will not be last horse to an extent to show to what degree our players have improved.

Willie Anderson, second in '97 and third last year, and on form the best of the M. G. A. professionals, will be the most conspicuous absentee from the gathering. Rigden, Garden City: Stoddard, Nassau Country: Griffiths, Westbrook and Laing, Crescent A. C., have also failed to enter. The two Rawlins and three Fitzolons are the only "pros" to enter from summer links, while Mungo Park, Jr., Arthur H. Fenn and Val Flood are among those too busy at the summer resorts to go to Baltimore. Harry Roy Sweny, the Albanian entered, seems to be in a rank by himself. Unreconciled, he is still outside the amateur breastworks. Under section 10, with Charles S. Cox and others. Sweny was ruled ineligible to compete in open amateur events on the ground that he was in the golf-goods business. The section has since been repealed and Cox, on application, now has the right to play as an amateur. But Sweny has not asked for a reinstatement, although as now interpreted he is not a professional under the rules. He is going it alone, as it were. DeWitt C. Morrell, special consul of the L. A. W. on the Delaware and Hudson Canal cycle path project, is drafting a bill to be presented to the New York Legislature this fall. The purpose is to obtain for cyclists, the sole use of the practically abandoned tow-path of the canal, giving them rights similar to those they enjoy on the county sidepaths of the State, so that the towpath can be surfaced for bleyeles and maintained in good condition. Mr. Morrell thinks there is good prospect of success, and says that he expects to see a century ridden on the level path next season.

NOTES.

The century runs of the Firemen, and of the Royal Arcanum wheelmen are the chief events for to-morrow. Both will be over the Long Iviand course.

Among the officials who will have the big century run of the New York Firemen's Cycle Club in charge to-morrow will be the crack quad team of the Kings County Wheelmen. Charles T. Earl will steer the big machine, and will have George Silvia. John O'Connor and Charles Visel as his companions. Other officials include C. F. Staubsch of the Century Road Club of America, as Captain, Chief John Castles and Lieut John F. McArce, both of the New York Firemen's Cycle Club, as Boad Chub, Adolph Oatmen of the Manhaitan Heyele Club and John Fsy of the Rough Ridgers Cycle as coursers.

The races for the amateur championship of the N.

A. at Berkeley Oval this afternoon are the only ones on for to-day in this vicinity. At the Vallsburgh track to morrow Charley Miles, the six-day champion, will meet young Joe Downey in a motor paced race at fifteen miles. The Monitor Wheelmen will hold their club race meet to-morrow at William Smith's, Valley Stream.

Princeton's Athletic Treasurer Talks. PRINCETON, Sept. S .- Walter Andrus, Genera Treasurer of the Princeton Athletic Association, arrived here to-day from his home in Williamport, Pa., where he has been spending his vacation. When asked in regard to the financial standing of the association and as to the effect which this year's schedule would have upon it. Andrus said:

"As is generally known, we are about $4,000 in debt. To obliterate this deficit and pay the expenses, which will be incurred in the running of the football team the coming season will be no easy matter. The games to be played in New York in the fall with Columbia and the Carlisie Indians are sxperiments. The game with the latter ought to be a drawing eard, and if Columbia turns out a good team, as indications new point, the receipts from this game ought to be comparatively large. We hope at the best that when our final report is made on June 1, 1900, that the association will be free from all indebtedness." Williamport, Pa., where he has been spending

Atlantic Yacht Club Races.

The handsome cups given by ex-Commodore George J. Gould of the Atlantic Yacht Club will be raced for to-day. There are four of these cups and for each one there will be a good contest. They are for schooners in racing trim and schooners in cruising trim and fer alcops and schooners in cruising trim and fer sleops in racing trim and sloops in cruising trim. The race for schooners in cruising trim promises to be one of the best of the year. Among the entries are Commodore Adam's Bachem. Vice Commodore Whitlock's Ramona, Robert F. Tod's Katrina. Wilson Marshall's Atlantic, W. H. Langley's Comet. J. Fred Ackerman's Lady Evelyn. In addition to the race for the Gould Cup the Sachen and Ramona have a match race for a $500 cup. These two schooners have raced together four times and each yacht has won twice, so there will be lots of interest in the contest to-day. The races will be started off the Craven Shral Buoy i be lower bayat 10 o'clock and the yachts will is not the Sandy Hook Lightship and back arm.
